

I am vehemently any relaxation of the New Jersey Do Not Call law. Since it's inception I feel that my private life has been invaded much less by telemarketers. Surely we're all mature enough to know what we want, and if we want something to seek it out....we don't need a complete stranger to tell us what we need and ram it down our throats.